

ADB SPEAKERS

Albert Park

Chief Economist and Director
General
Economic and Research and Regional Cooperation Department
Asian Development Bank

Albert Park is Chief Economist of the Asian Development Bank (ADB) and Director General of its Economic Research and Regional Cooperation Department. He is chief spokesperson on economic and development trends and leads the production of ADB's key knowledge products and support for regional cooperation fora. He has more than 2 decades of experience as a development economist and is a well-known expert on the economy of the People's Republic of China. He has worked on a broad range of development issues including poverty and inequality, intergenerational mobility, microfinance, migration and labor markets, the future of work, and foreign investment.

He is Chair Professor of Economics and Director of the Center for Economics Policy (on leave) at Hong Kong University of Science and Technology (HKUST). He served as a founding director of HKUST's Institute for Emerging Market Studies and professor at the University of Oxford. A national of the United States, he received his bachelor's degree in economics from Harvard University and his doctorate in applied economics from Stanford University.

Jong Woo Kang

Principal Economist
Economic Research and Regional Cooperation Department
Asian Development Bank

Jong Woo Kang is Principal Economist at the Economic Research and Regional Cooperation Department of ADB. He is a seasoned economist with extensive knowledge and experiences on policy and strategic issues. He was senior advisor to the managing director general of ADB and senior economist at Strategy and Policy Department at ADB. He leads the annual publication of Asian Economic Integration Report. Areas of his research interest include regional integration, inclusive growth, macroeconomic and international trade policies, and aid effectiveness. He has published research articles in academic journals such as Journal of Development Economics, Journal of Applied Economics, and Journal of World Trade, and wrote numerous blogs and opinion articles on global macroeconomy and international trade and finance.

Before joining ADB, he was director at Ministry of Finance and Economy of the Republic of Korea. He has got his BA in economics and MA in public administration

David A. Raitzer

Economist
Economic Research and Regional Cooperation Department
Asian Development Bank

from Seoul National University, and PhD in economics from University of Washington.

David A. Raitzer is an Economist in the Economic Research and Regional Cooperation Department of ADB, where he normally focusses on impact evaluation of development interventions and research on environmental policy challenges and agricultural development constraints. In the COVID-19 era, he has also become involved in epidemiological modeling and use of cost benefit analysis on measures to control the pandemic. His over 16 years of research experience at a range of international organizations have focused on evaluating the effects and benefits of policies and interventions, using a range of methods from randomized experiments, to quasi-experimental approaches, bio-economic modeling, and economy-wide modeling.